WARREN CENTRAL H. S. MEDIA CE
INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA 46229

This is Warren Central High School as the classes of 1925 saw it. The building construction was completed during the winter of 1924 and by January it was officially opened and ready for use.

At last they're gone . . .

Crowded halls and cramped classrooms were Warren's big problem in the past years. While growing in mind and body, we also grew in population.

The first graduating class of 1925 totaled 19. By the school's 25th. anniversary, the graduating class had increased to 133 seniors. This year set a new record when 219 seniors left our Warren World.

There will always be expansion, not only in population, but also in building growth. Warren started with 16 classrooms. In 1949, six rooms were added. The year 1958 brought still more need for expansion. Twelve new classrooms and a cafeteria increased Warren's size.

As teenagers we also suffered the pains of growing. It was found that time cures all ills. Much was learned and much is still to be learned. For the seniors, only a small portion of the growing stage is completed. Graduation is not the end, but just the beginning as expansion problems have not come to an end, but shall continue . . . As We Cure Our Growing Pains.

This is Warren as school began . . .

Our Growing Pains . . .

While many Warren pupils were vacationing on Florida's beaches, or midst snow-covered mountains, Warren was undergoing a very definite change, the beginning of a new addition to our school. The construction plan began before school ended last year and was completed by the second semester of this year.

Mrs. Mary Deer and Mrs. Theorda Pfister take care of our behind the scenes jobs. They have many student assistants who receive credit in office practice for their help. The new office has a more pleasant atmosphere and is certainly more attractive to the eye.

Paper, pencils and folders seemed to be the most requested articles during a regular school day. Mrs. Erma Mc Clarren, bookstore manager, handles everything from pencils to text books and receives about $30 a day on supplies alone. She also has the job of being cafe treasurer and handles about $450 each day.

Offices, Classrooms, and

The pounding of nails, the buzzing of saws and a constructing atmosphere were all a part of the activity at our school during this past summer. The school was inconvenienced by the fact that the new addition was not completed on time, but the inconvenience was worth while. The result is that the building is now much more convenient and beautiful new.

A twelve room wing was completed which included modern classroom equipment and lighting, a new teachers' lounge; a new office, a vice-principal's office and a beautiful new cafeteria which seats approximately five hundred people at one time. Along with curriculum addition was the addition of new science laboratory equipment for the chemistry classes.

The atmosphere of the new part of the school is relaxing and pleasing to everyone — students and teachers alike. The walls are better lighted because of the better light fixtures and more window space. The new desks are so comfortable many people find it hard to stay awake. Studying is certainly not a drudgery in such pleasant surrounding. The teachers also enjoy the spacious rooms for they have more room for storing things. They find the extra long blackboards handy. All of this helps to make up the program for the advancement of the American student.

The new lighting in our school is a great advancement towards improving the surroundings for studying. Students no longer must strain their eyes to see their teachers or their books. Teachers no longer contend with pupils who cat-nap due to poor lighting.

The Commerce Department has made new additions to its equipment. Using these new dictaphones are seniors Roger Spangler and Karen Goken. The students find great value in the using of these machines rented by the school. The department also has an adding machine which was purchased by Warren Central.

These sixth period study-hall people resign themselves to doing homework in the new cafeteria which doubles as a well-lighted study hall during the last period. The full-length windows, with no direct sunlight, and the new ceiling lights with daylight brightness aid studying tremendously. Here there are no noisy classrooms nearby to disturb the working students.

Cafeteria Takes on New Look . . .

Approximately 1300 members of the Warren Central student body each day filed through three attractive lunch serving lines to receive a balanced plate lunch. This year the new addition brought forth many new conveniences for students and faculty members alike. The teachers enjoyed the privacy of a separated lunch room while the students listened to the high-fidelity FM music piped into the cafeteria.

For many years it has been a tradition to circle the library three or four times in the morning before the final bell rings. It is a time for seeing all of our friends and catching up on the latest gossip.

Circling the library also gives us a time for singing "Happy Birthday" to some embarrassed person and time for catching a final wink of sleep before first period.

The Library also serves as an auditorium, study hall, and general meeting place.

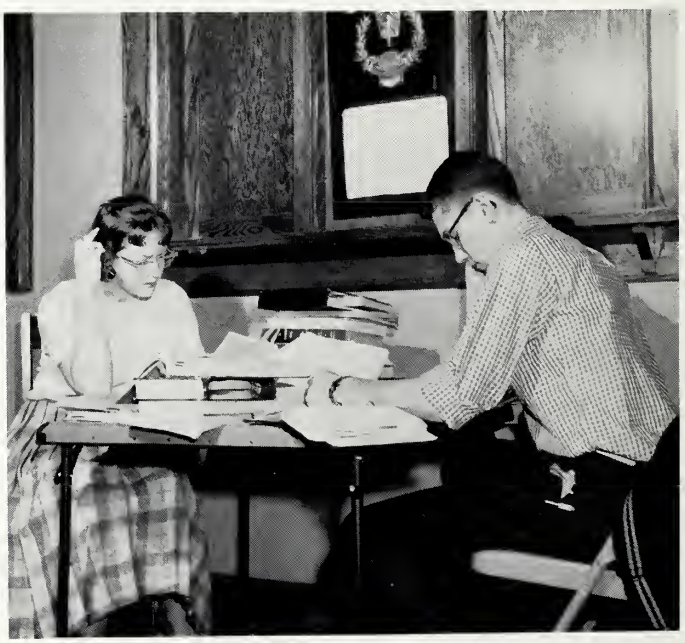
Old and New Traditions

This was a year that jumbled old and new together, proudly displaying in the end a crazy-quilt of ancient tradition and new ideas that molded together to form a delightful picture of what Warren Central has meant to us.

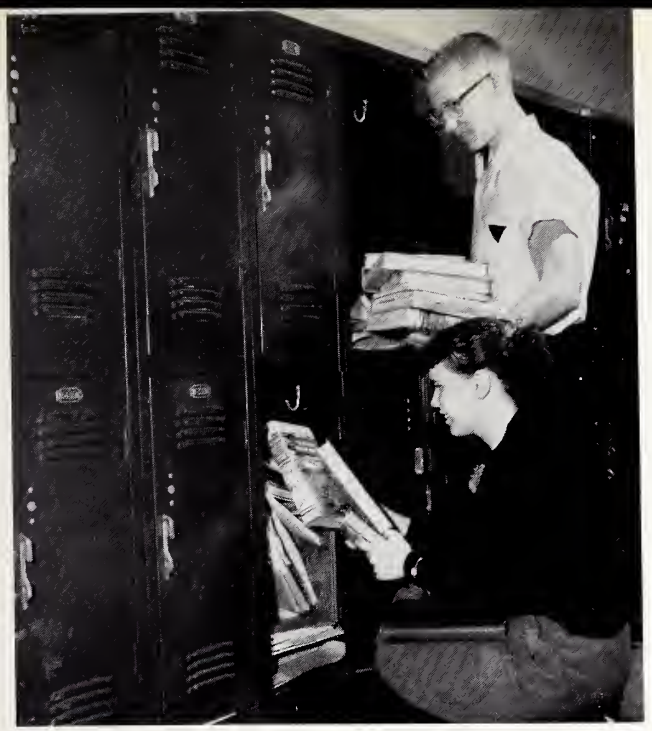
The one-way traffic around the library in the morning, and music to eat by in the new cafeteria . . . the jam at the bookstore between classes, and the new wing's 250 feet adding to our five minute sprint . . . the glamour of the National Beta and Warrenette Valentine Tea, and the excitement of the first Senior Play . . . the stacks of homework night after night, and the scenic beauty of Lake McGuire basking peacefully in the sun . . . the big game hunt for a parking place every morning, and the new administration building being constructed on the northern portion of our campus.

The desperate struggle to stay awake in class, and the wonder of learning that the cute little gal you had wanted to ask for a date was the new student teacher in the English department.

These are the things that we, the students of Warren Central 1958-59 will remember, and we will remember them fondly, for in spite of all the complaining we do, this east side high school is a pretty good place to be when you are young, carefree and just waking up to the complexity of life.



A typical scene at the end of the six weeks periods; Sue Nicewanger, and Dick Nye pore over their books hoping to get that ever wonderful "A" next time. It is the hope of all to make the honor roll. The honor roll is put up each six weeks by the members of the Senior Honor Society.



Nancy Endicott and Bill Hardesty, juniors, seem to be having trouble making room for books in their lockers. It is for this reason that locker clean-ups are scheduled. Lockers are just a minor part of school, but a clean one can surely prevent carrying a large load of books from class to class.

Just recently Indianapolis started an Annual Yards and Parks Clean-up Campaign. The purpose of this campaign is to make our city a cleaner place to live. A girl is chosen from each high school to represent that particular school in the Yards and Parks Parade. This year Penny McIntosh was chosen as Warren's queen.

Observed By All . . .

Because of the crowded facilities this year, the parking lot sometimes became rather crowded. In order to enable the students to leave on time an organized system was set up. The cars were parked in rows, whereby each student waited his turn to leave. A place to park is another one of the small but important facilities the school provides for the students.

Hard Work

Jim Fredericks, Ed Wilson, Bill Schmitt, Bonnie Townsend, Barbara Reel and Dianne Dicks recall memories of the 12th Annual Indiana University Journalism Institute. Classes at the institute are divided into two principal sessions — yearbook production and newspaper procedure. Those attending the institute are recommended by their school journalism instructor. The editors of the OWL and WIGWAM are awarded a cash scholarship by Max Galloway known as the Keever Award which finances their way to the Institute.

This year, as in previous years, all senior girls were given the opportunity to take the Betty Crocker Homemaking test. Competing in the contest from Warren were approximately 30 girls. Marjorie House, first place winner in the school competition, received a certificate, and also was eligible to compete in State competition. The Betty Crocker Homemaking test is standardized by Betty Crocker and covers all phases of homemaking.

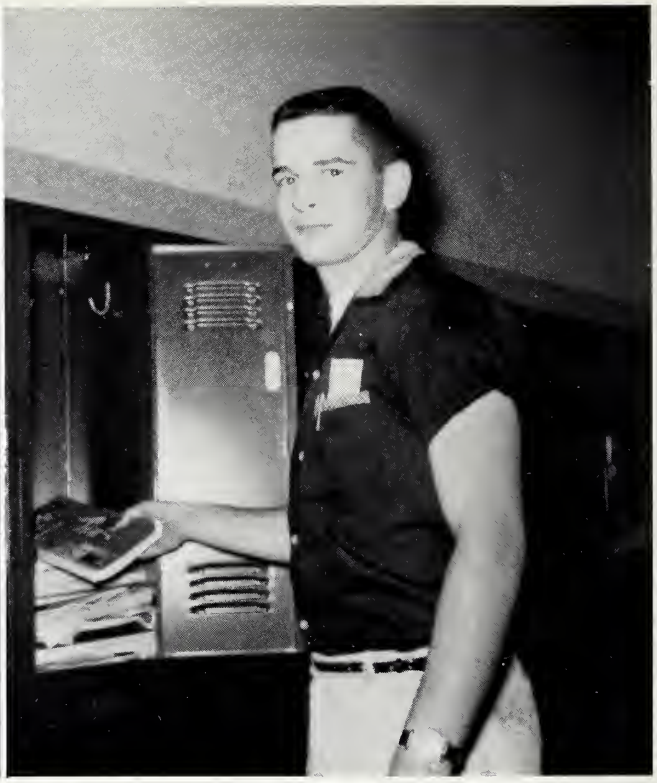
Bill Nicewanger and Eddie Powell, seniors, represented Warren Central at Indiana Hoosier Boys' State. Sara Mc Clarren, Barbara Reel and Dianne Dicks, seniors, represented Warren at Girls' State. Both Boys' and Girls' State are sponsored by the American Legion. Approximately 1,000 Hoosier boys and girls attended each session held on the Indiana University campus. The primary purpose of each was to familiarize future citizens with the practices of our state government.

Rewards

Marjorie House and David Binnie, both seniors, placed high in the National Merit Scholarship contest which was held during their junior year. The results weren't computed and announced until this year.

Every year the Daughters of the American Revolution give a good citizenship award to the senior girl voted by the senior class and faculty to receive it. This year Sara Mc Clarren was the recipient.

Barbara Wilson and Dick Nye, seniors, were outstanding achievers in 4-H club work. Barbara won a trip to Washington through her high placing in the 4-H dress review. Dick won a scholarship because of his high achievements.



Recognition Day brought smiles of joy to the faces of Myrna Miller and John McWhinney as they were announced as the recipients of the Senior Citizenship Award. The award, presented annually at the all-school convocation is based on two main qualities — the students' interest in the field of social studies and his display of good citizenship. After several seniors have been selected for consideration, the teachers of social studies choose one girl and one boy to receive the well-known Gold Key award.

Tomorrow's Citizens

Each year a pupil from Warren is sent on a free trip to New York and Washington, D.C. This year the Warren P.T.A. sent Mike Crowe, senior. Mike was gone about five days, during which time he talked with U.N. delegates and visited historic places in Washington.

Recognition Day is a traditional day set aside each year to honor pupils who have made outstanding achievements during the school year or rendered outstanding service to the school.

On this day awards are given for a number of academic and vocational achievements. Awards are given by the Kiwanis Club to the outstanding person in each of the fields of study. Certificate awards are given for attendance and assistance.

Recognition is also given to the music students — both instrumental and vocal. The George C. Keever Award and the Merle Sidener Awards are given for oustanding journalism work.

Other awards include the De Kalb Agriculture Award, the Hi-Y Award, the safe driving award and the D.A.R. Award. Athletic honors are also announced.

The representatives to Girls' State and Boys' State are honored and Scholastic Contest winners are recognized.

Talking over the experiences spent at the Model United Nations held at the State House are Jeff Lantz, Dick Nye, Bill Nicewanger, Noah Stodghill, Bill Schmitt, and Jim Fredericks. This group of boys were selected from the Alpha Hi-Y. The purpose of this general assembly was to acquaint students with the main problems of the U.N. and help them to be more aware of world affairs.

A growing school has growing interests, and as Warren expanded in space and enrollment, the scope of her pupils' interest widened to include many phases of academic and social life. Not only did Warrenites take part in the many different activities provided by their high school, but also they participated actively in various affairs throughout the city, state, and nation.

Warren was proud of her successful representatives who won first place in the State Solo and Ensemble contest. For the boys she sent to the Model U.N. at Purdue University, it was an opportunity to have fun and at the same time advance their knowledge of international affairs, and they learned there the value of thoughtful leadership in all walks of life. Warren also sent a delegate to the Council on World Affairs in Washington D.C. who brought back a great deal of information many of our students found useful.

Taste World Affairs . . .

U.N. visitor from Warren this year was Sue Preston. Touring through various government departments in Washington, D.C. and New York, Sue had many experiences to share when she returned. The trip is sponsored by the Indianapolis Council on World Affairs. Her expenses on the tour were made one of the many projects of the Warren High School P-TA and Student Council.

Touring through Warren's library the last of January, were visitors from 13 foreign countries. They were stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison while attending courses in finance. The tour through Warren Township Schools was planned by the P-TA of School number 13; thus enabling the military leaders to study the American educational system.

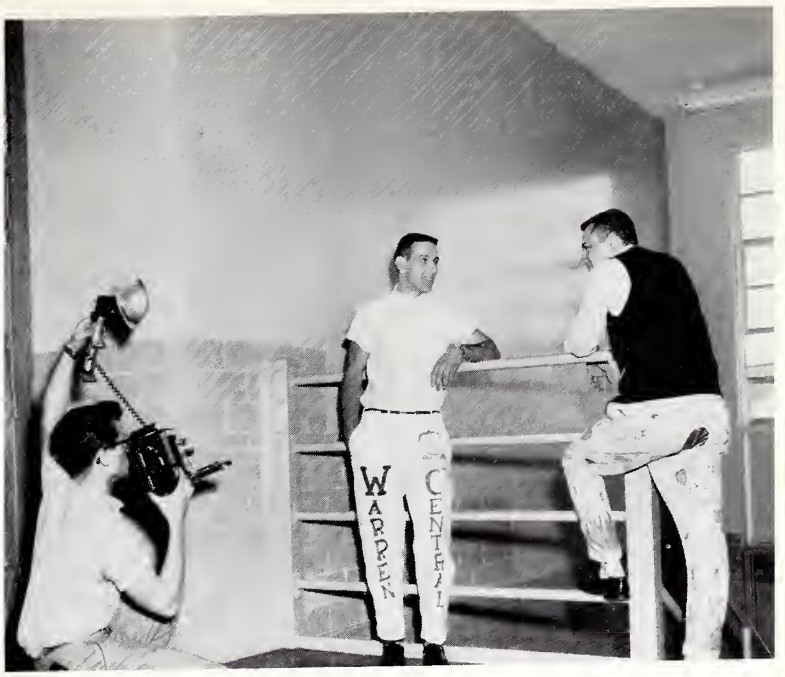
First in the race of clothes this year was the blazer modeled by Joan Portteus. Following closely were the sweater vests, usually worn over blouses, shown by Jeanne Horton.

Wearing one of the many styles of matching shirts for steadies are Nancy Christenberry and Noah Stodghill. This eliminated the question of "Who's going with whom?"

Fads and Fashions

Throughout the years many fads and fashions have ruled the halls of Warren. Some are seen again year after year while others seem to fade away as the seasons change. Short hair cuts and long hair styles are still popular with the girls though the new casual styles are seen more and more. For the boys the short hair cuts are still prevalant although the flat-top is gaining in popularity. This year the steady shirts and blouses were seen for the first time but most likely will be remembered for years to come.

Short hair was popular with both girls and boys this year. John King exhibits the popular flat-top while Linda Franklin shows off her ducks. Bob Thomas and Linda Harris display the ever-favorite long-hair styles.



Everything from burning cuffs to "I hate girls" was seen on the boys senior cords this year. Long consideration was given on how to decorate them. Then great strides were taken to have every line perfectly drawn. Although cords were very popular with the boys this year, no senior skirts were seen on the girls. Joe Covey and Steve Carroll, seniors, show their "masterpieces" while Jim Fredericks snaps their picture.

Influence Student Life . . .

Pegged pants were top on the boys' list of styles this year. For sweaters the crew-neck and Como were popular as seen on Larry Parrish and Mark Cole.

The job of gathering all the latest news on fashions this year was given to Warren's High School Fashion Board Members, Jani Ernsberger at Block's and Dianne Dicks at Ayres.

Calorie counting? Well, not today, anyway. Both mothers and daughters forget all about their diets on the day of the Valentine Tea. This year they had the added pleasure of being served in Warren Central's newly completed cafeteria.

"Wow!" says Tom Armstrong, senior, as he eyes Carol Fredericks, junior. Carol is dressed up for the Mother and Daughter Valentine Tea. The tea has been a tradition at Warren Central for 28 years.

Our Annual Valentine Tea

Each February we know it is the day for our Annual Valentine Tea when we hear the clicking of heels resounding through the halls. This year was the 27th consecutive year for this tradition. This day is set aside in honor of our mothers by the girls of the school. It is sponsored by the Warrenettes and the National Beta Clubs. First on the program for the afternoon was the escorting of the mothers, by the girls, through the receiving line. A musical program was then given by the music department with the theme "What is a Girl." The girls and their mothers went to the cafeteria where they enjoyed the delightful refreshments prepared by the home economics department.

No tea is complete without cookies and sandwiches. This is the scene that greeted the eyes of those who attended the Valentine Tea. The purposes of the tea are to honor the mothers of National Beta and Warrenette members and to give the mothers a chance to become better acquainted with the organizations and the school.

Steve Boyce, junior, assists Jeanne Horton, senior, at the water fountain. This couple was chosen from a field of sixteen students nominated as candidates for the title of Mr. and Miss Courtesy. The coronation ceremony took place at the annual spring dance, Moonlight Melodies.

Jeanne Horton and Larry Piety recall memories of the Christmas dance. Mr. and Miss Santa Claus approached the microphone and declared Jeanne and Larry were Mr. and Miss Mistletoe. The candidates were elected from their respective classes.

and Other Special Events . . .

Don Kassen, a Warren Central graduate returned in March to perform various gymnastics at a convocation held in the gym. Don is in his sophomore year at Ball State Teachers' College and according to his coach, is doing a fine job on the gymnastics team.

This year the P-TA presented a series of skits portraying happenings at Warren through the years. Teachers and parents alike took part in the various skits. In this skit Jospeh Tansy and Larry Smith demonstrate the application of first aid to a war victim, David Sausser, during the 1940's.

Classes Enjoy Parties

This year Warrenites saw the first all-senior play to be produced here for some years. A play reading committee composed of senior council members chose the play "Seven Sisters" for presentation. Seniors not only did the acting but also worked on the several commirtees which helped to make the play a big success. Many hours of thinking, planning and working went into making the play a memorable occasion.

Ed Meredith, sophomore, admires the new senior rings modeled by Sharon Yoho, junior, and longingly looks forward to the time when he, too, can have one.

Each year a party is given for the freshmen to become better acquainted with their class members. This year's party was given just as a regular dance, including a stage show and disc jockey. Members of the freshman class planned the dance weeks in advance and provided their own entertainment.

Plays and Convocations . . .

Each year the WIGWAM Staff presents a convocation which is aimed at promoting the sales of the annual. As usual, this year's convocation was full of humorous antics and entertaining acts. The above picture is only one of the very clever acts that was produced by the staff. It is the Western Scene. In this picture are shown Jim Fredericks, Penny Jones and Bill Schmitt. Some of the other acts were: A Man on the Street, The Pilgrims' Landing, and Days of the Future. The acts were based on how people in the past, present, and future enjoyed their Wigwams.

This year's operetta was the ever-popular "Oklahoma." The cast was open not only to those in the music department, but also to anyone in the school who wanted to be in it. It was probably the most successful production the music department has put on for several years. Two evening performances were given in the gymnasium and record breaking crowds attended both. It was directed by vocal music teacher, Mrs. Peg Neuen. In the above picture Kate sings "Out of Your Dreams" while Laurey dreams of Curly.

Dancing to the music of Vic Knight were the 1959 graduate seniors of Warren High. The scene for the prom was the cafeteria of the Indiana University Medical Center Student Union Building. Before the dance began, everyone received a steak dinner at the banquet. The night of May 27 shall be remembered as one of the festivities which swiftly passed by during senior week. Barbara Rell, Gary Wetherald, Carol Fredericks and Bill Schmitt pose for Mr. Galloway.

Gala Affairs and . . .

Along with dancing, picture taking, and drinking punch, a queen and king were crowned to highlight the many festivities at the Junior Prom. Members of the court are Larry Guire, Marlene Settles, King Steve Boyce, Penny McIntosh, Bob McConnell, Queen Jeannette Miller, Dick Snodgrass, Shirley Phillips, Bill Hardesty and Jo Sams. Barton Rogers and his orchestra were the musicians for the evening as the couples danced at the I.S.T.A. building.

The Class of 1959 led by Valedictorian David Binnie, left, conducts commencement exercises in the gym as patrons and friends proudly observe.

Graduation Highlight Year

The annual Junior and Senior Proms highlighted each year. It is a time for each class to gather with its own members to have an all around good time.

For most seniors the year ended all too soon. There was hardly time to do all the activities they had hoped to do in their last year of school. The festivities which ended the year ranged from the most formal (graduation) to the most informal (the picnic). So our year was ended with the activities that so many of us will long remember.

Seniors "dig in" as picnic activities cease for the fantastic spread of food which highlighted the annual trip.

We Grew In Responsibility . . .

Activities

A good school curriculum contains not only a variety of solid, academic courses but also a well-rounded program of extracurricular activities. Such activities help us grow morally, mentally and socially. They teach us how to get along with others as well as teaching responsibility and dependability.

Many teachers and students spend hours planning dances, parties and working with clubs. These extra hours mean extra experiences and a richer high school career for all people who participate — who are "doers" rather than just "joiners." These services offer much to make Warren a better and greater school.

We must not forget, however, that an effective activity program does not exist for its own sake, but rather to give the student added information on his special interests and to give him opportunities for activity organization.

Our growing pains — the painful exuberances of maturing — manifest their energy in our activities where we have the chance to learn, to have fun, to grow.

Democracy Rules When

Without a student governing body a school would be forfeiting an effective method of administration-to-student communication which is vital in the orderly functioning of any educational system.

Representatives are elected each fall, therefore, from homerooms to form the Student Council, the student governing body of Warren Central. An all-school election has already determined the major officers of the group, and these students immediately begin planning their many activities for the school year. The council meets every Monday to discuss problems pertaining to their part in the success and growth of Warren.

Democracy of this kind leads to student responsibility, and Student Council is responsible for dances, convocations, Courtesy Week (held this year in conjunction with the spring dance) all school elections, Yard-Park's clean-up campaign, Teachers Appreciation Day, the school gift and the popular after-ballgame sock hops.

Junior and Senior Councils were elected by the members' classmates to determine class policy and to supervise class activities. Assisting Jerry Lett with senior class plans were Suzy Woodward, vice-president; Barbara Reel, secretary; and Bonnie Townsend, treasurer. Steve's officers included Rita Parker, vice-president; Penny McIntosh, secretary; and Bill Hardesty, treasurer.

Proms and class picnics held the spotlight for these upperclassmen as they planned money-making schemes to help finance their various undertakings. Bake sales, car wash days and paper sales netted revenue for juniors and seniors. These Warrenites also were responsible for the promoting of fountain pens, taffy and greeting cards as they endeavored to "make ends meet" on their all-important class-sponsored functions.

Barbara Wilson, president, led the students elected to membership in the Senior Honor Society. She was assisted by Larry Piety, vice-president; Sara McClarren, secretary; and Bill Nicewanger, treasurer.

Character, scholarship, leadership and service are the basis for election by the faculty and for final approval by the society's members. Emphasis on a higher education and continued self-improvement was the objective of the juniors and seniors. Leon Thompson, Latin instructor, sponsored the group whose yearly activities included a dance and a picnic.

The freshmen and sophomores of the Junior Honor Society chose Stan Martin as their president for 1958-59. His officers were Dick Kline, vice-president; Judy Mann, secretary; and Jack Stiefel, treasurer.

Candidates for the younger members of the national honorary were chosen for their character, scholarship, leadership and service as are their older schoolmates. Faculty members nominated eligible students with the approval of the Society. Mrs. Vera Petersen, English teacher, assisted the group with all activities including their spring picnic.

Warren's journalism department was granted membership in the International Quill and Scroll Society in 1953 on the basis set up by the judges of the Quill and Scroll Select Board of Critical Service.

Membership in the Quill and Scroll Club, an international honorary society for high school journalists, is based upon journalism service. Each member of his respective chapter has at least 150 printed inches in publications or an equivalent in service. Members of this society are in the upper 25% of their class scholastically and must be recommended by their journalism sponsor.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Sylvia Butler, journalism adviser, the members of this honorary sponsored the annual publication banquet held during the spring in the new cafeteria.

To create a greater interest in and more appreciation of mathematics among the students of Warren Central is the goal of the Mu Alpha Theta Mathematics Club. This organization is one of the three national mathematic honor societies of senior high schools and junior colleges in the state of Indiana. To be a member of this honorary a student must have a major in mathematics in his high school schedule, and be in the upper 10% of his class scholastically. One of the newer honor societies at Warren, the Mu Alpha Theta was directed under the sponsorship of Ray Clark and Joseph Tansy.

MATH CLUB OFFICERS — David Binnie, President; Bill Schmitt, Vice-President and Treasurer; and Barbara Wilson, Secretary, display geometrical figures in one of the various mathematics classrooms.

ALPHA HI-Y CLUB OFFICERS — Bill Nicewanger, Treasurer; Walter Hart, Secretary; Jeff Lantz, Vice-President; Jim Helgason, Sergeant-at-Arms; Dick Nye, Chaplain; and Bill Schmitt, President.

Alpha Hi-Y is a state organization in which junior and senior boys participate. This club helps to promote attendance in church plus many other high ideals. Among many of their activities, the Mile of Dimes campaign was the most outstanding. With the help of their sponsor, Alfred Cocks, the club chose two children to clothe who were also taken to dinner.

The Hi-Y also works along with the Y.M.C.A. in this community. During the summer they have a camp for the officers of the Hi-Y Clubs. At this camp they are taught the responsibilities of the office they hold in their club. Along with classes they also have recreational facilities and hold dances and skits for entertainment.

Bits of Work, Fun and Culture

The National Beta Club an organization for junior and senior girls, is a national organization providing for better character, friendship, and better church attendance. The dues provide for a pin and Beta Journals.

The Warren chapter sponsors many activities in school. The fall and spring dances are just a small part. They also have the annual Mother and Daughters' Valentine Tea.

The officers for National Beta are nominated by the old officers and sponsor, Mrs. Carol Montgomery. After nominations the sophomore and junior girls vote for the future officers of the club.

Because of the half days at the beginning of school, clubs didn't have a chance to participate in too many activities this year. However, they did have enough to keep them busy.

The Freshette club membership is open to freshman girls. They planned the Freshman Spring Party and sponsored the Clothe-a-Child drive at Christmas time. Sophomore girls in the Warrenette club helped sponsor dances and shared responsibilities for the Mother Daughter Valentine Tea with National Beta Club.

Freshman and sophomore boys were busy also. The Beta Hi-Y club, which is connected with the YMCA, co-sponsored our fall dance and helped with religious programs in the school.

Jack Wininger is telling his slave, Janet Basey, what to do while Susan Morgan dictates to her slave, Don Grossman.

The Latin classes' annual Slave Sale is only one of the many traditions so important to Warren's curricular and extracurricular life. First year Latin students are auctioned off in a re-enactment of ancient days in Rome.

These underclassmen "slaves" are then required to do small tasks for their "owners" as students become a part of the varied and entertaining as well as educational activities of Leon Thompson's liberos.

the Achievements and Culture of W. C.

Mrs. Suzanne Carey sponsored Warren's newly-revived Drama Club. Organized to afford its members with opportunities to act, direct and participate in the many other activities involved in presenting plays, the Drama Club sponsored many programs throughout the year. These included the annual Christmas program, the first Senior Play for many years, and a special outing to the Civic Theater for members and guests.

Another first in 1958-59 was the initiation of this club into the National Thespian Honor Society which added a mark of distinction to membership in the Drama Club.

DRAMATICS CLUB OFFICERS — Sara McClarren, President; Jeannette Miller, Treasurer; Bonnie Townsend, Secretary; and Bill Nicewanger, Vice-Presidtnt, run through a one-act skit to be given at an all-school convocation.

Devotions Main Activity of Bible Club

MORNING DEVOTIONS COMMITTEE — Nancy Christenberry and Sandy Kleine, Music; Larry Guire, Text.

Hi-C Bible Club is the largest club of its kind in the United States according to Youth For Christ official Billy Zeoli, and most Warren students carried its membership cards. Morning devotions program was the major activity of the group as it presented the music, the scripture, the prayer which opened the school day of every Warrenite.

Hi-C, sponsored by Joyce Collins, commerce teacher, was organized several years ago to fulfill the belief of a number of students that more emphasis on a religious theme was needed. These people believed that such an extracurricular activity would benefit those people who were interested.

The visitation program, so active in the past, was hampered this year by the shortened days, but the short devotions period continued, and it became another of the fine traditions of Warren Central.

Band Parents, Boosters and Members

With a flash of new uniforms and the sound of snare drums the Warren Central band marches quickly onto the football field, struts colorfully down the parade route or plays gaily at a basketball game in the gym. The band's routines add the final touch of color to our sports events. Spring and winter concerts, pep sessions, and Easter sunrise services are also on the agenda for the band. The members work hard during the fall and winter weeks preparing for the district and state solo ensemble contests. A first place in the district contest is a prerequisite to go on to the state contest. This year, as in previous years, Warren is proud of its musicians' high placings in these contests.

Adding color, zest, and variety to the performances of the band, the majorettes strutted with waving flags and twirling batons. The majorettes are seen doing their routines at football games, basketball games, and at parades.

This year the majorettes boasted new uniforms, which added sparkle to their performances. The Band Boosters helped raise money to buy their new outfits.

Brenda Miller was elected drum majorette and David Collier was elected drum major. Brenda and David had charge of routines during the parade performances. JoAnne Atwood was elected head majorette. She directed the majorettes during their indoor performances.

chair solo trumpet everyone has a vital part in the music playing. Without the pulsating beats of the bass and percussion sections there would be no rythmn. Without the smooth, covered tones of the clarinets and cornets the melody would be empty and hollow. Even the absence of one note in a song can be disasterous to its effect. Without one cymbal crash a song could fall apart.

As a tune would crumble without each component, the band would also crumble without the valuable assistance of the Band Boosters. New uniforms were bought this year with money raised through generous donations, Christmas tree sales, candy sales, fish fries, round and square dances. The Band Boosters have sponsored many activities for the band and their parents during the year.

Choir, Band Councils Guide Functions

Serving on the band council for the past year are; standing, Steve Carroll, Jim E. Spilker, and Ronnie Finkbiner, seated, Margaret Yotter and Sandy Wotring. These officers are elected by the members of the band to outline a plan by which the director, Cecil Havens, can govern the different activities and programs. It is the duty of the council to solve any problems which may occur during the school year. They also decide on policy changes and handle their business matters. Helping plan for many other functions such as the spring band banquet, Christmas party and hayride was a year-long task for the council.

Shown decorating the Christmas tree are the choir officers. From left to right, they are Pat Gioe, Secretary; Jerry Lett, President; Larry Parrish, Vice-President; and Joan Portteus, Treasurer. The choir officers are elected by the members of the choir at the beginning of each year. Their primary duty is to discover the ideas of the choir members and form them into an acceptable plan. This in turn helps the choir director to decide upon the rules for the choir without misunderstanding. The choir officers this year also helped to plan for the wiener roast in the fall, a caroling and Christmas party in the winter, and a picnic at Shakamak State Park in the spring.

Select Performing Groups Represent

During the past year the musical groups of Warren Central have participated in many activities, not only in the school world but also in the community world, as well.

For the choir it was quite a busy year — convocations, appearances on the Circle, and caroling at Christmas time. The choir is fully occupied during the spring of the year when their talents are shown at the annual Choral Festival and Easter Service. At these different events a change of style was chosen for a more formal-type dress instead of the usual choir robes. The girls wore deep-blue sheaths and the boys wore light-blue jackets and deep-blue trousers.

For the Madrigal it was also a busy year; appearances at lunchrooms and dinners, programs for churches and other organizations, and competition in different contests. One of the honors won by the Madrigal at the State and District Contests was a first place. At these events the group's dress was of the same fashion as in previous years.

The Concert Club is a singing group which performs at school and neighborhood activities. This year it was composed of 34 freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior girls. Under the direction of Mrs. Fowler, they performed in the Christmas Program, the Spring Festival, and at several other occasions.

Although the Concert Club is not a preparation for choir, many of the girls become members of the choir. Many of the members remain with the Concert Club for the length of their singing career at Warren.

TREBLE TONES — Pat Perdue, Susan Everett, Charlene Upphalt, Nancy Waterman, Carol Ashbey, Marianne Williams, Linda Harris, Jennie LeFeber, Marilyn Winings, Janet Moore, Shirly Phillips, Barbara Wilson.

The Treble Tones is an all-girl singing group, strictly a performing group who sing for many service clubs, social clubs, banquets, dinners, and school activities.

This year the girls were outfitted in dark green taffeta dresses with dyed to match shoes and white gloves.

Mrs. Mary Ruth Fowler directs and accompanies the group in their religious and social singing.

The Boys' Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Peggy Neuen, was designed to enable boys to sing four-part music. The glee club is open to any boy in school and there are no auditions. This was only the second year of existence for the group, but they have already proved to be a great asset to the music department.

This year the Boys' Glee Club was composed of 33 talented and high-spirited boys. These two virtues contributed most to the successful performances the boys gave to various service clubs and school activities.

The main duty of a high school newspaper staff is to present a word picture of the school to the students and the community. OWL staffers published fourteen issues during the 1958-59 school year and experienced the normal terrors of the deadline, the lost story, an irate adviser and the eternal lack of the "long green."

From the tiny cubby-hole nestled in the rear of Room 14 came thousands of words, much scrap paper, lost scissors and rulers and fountain pens, and a strange assortment of individuals headed several different directions at the same time.

Overcoming the seemingly insurmountable odds of thirty-five minute periods for an entire semester and an unusually small staff, OWL people and Mrs. Sylvia Butler managed to accomplish the reporting of who, what, why, when, where and how for the school year.

Advertisers — their care and feeding — are the main concerns of the business manager and his staff. From these businessmen comes the additional revenue necessary for the paper's completing the year in the black.

The homeroom fee paid by each Warrenite makes possible the publication of the OWL, but this money does not cover the entire cost of printing, engraving and mailing for the bi-weekly issues.

The OWL's policy states that buying advertising from a high school paper does not constitute a gift, but rather it is a sensible way of reaching a specific (and perhaps the most influential) group of customers.

What is a yearbook? Staff members work an entire school year to produce this book; several thousands of dollars are spent to publish it. Yet, what is its purpose?

Theoretically, a yearbook is a pictorial record of a year's events explained by copy blocks and emphasized by headlines. For Warrenites the WIGWAM is more, however. Its pictures remind them of the many dances, convocations, clubs, teachers and classmates who helped to make each year of growing up another unforgettable one. Its copy recalls the ballgames, the queens and the traditions from years past.

This year's WIGWAM was planned for distribution during the summer, and a dance was scheduled for August. The annual kick-off for the subscription campaign featured "WIGWAM Through the Ages" as staff members proved the vital part the yearbook has played in all historical events. Money-making projects included the publication of the student directory, the promotion of a patron's page, the usual advertisements, and the annual senior book which listed the wills and the prophecy for the Class of 1959.

NEWS BUREAU — Jeff Lantz, the TIMES; Tom Armstrong, the NEWS; Jim Fredericks, TEEN STAR.

A good public relations program for any school includes not only the newspaper and yearbook coverage, but also a community and city coverage provided by student reporters. Warren Township has three city papers of Indianapolis, the TIMES, the NEWS and the TEEN STAR, in addition to the county papers consisting of the Courier, Herald, Eastern Sun, Northeast Reporter and the Northeast Times which print news of school activities.

The publications department has, therefore, created the News Bureau comprised of three or four advanced journalists working with selected typists to feed copy to these papers to broaden the scope of news coming from the school.

The routine of a News Bureau staff member is varied and hectic. Gathering the information is only the first step in reporting the school's activities. The stories are written and then typed. Deadlines are set for these commercial papers, of course, and they must be met by the third period reporters.

The publications department through its entire program attempts to bring the "Warren Central story" to as many interested parents and patrons as possible. Mrs. Sylvia Butler's juniors and seniors are the major factors involved in this reporting to the community.

Many Phases of Communications

VARSITY DEBATE TEAM — Preparing for a debate against a rival school are members of Warren's first Debate Club: Cindy Hall, Ed Wilson, Ruth Martin, Gary Allen and Bill Morell.

Warren Central saw the formation of a new team for participation in a new inter-scholastic activity when Charles Trees organized Warren's first debate team this year. Debating the question, "Resolved: that the United States should adopt the essential features of the Russian system of education," the two teams, negative and affirmative debated twice, lost twice, and had a lot of fun. The negative team had one more debate, and returned proudly after successfully defeating North Central's affirmative team.

Not only does this activity give its participants excellent experience in public speaking, but also it takes them deep into areas of knowledge that they would ordinarily ignore. "Everything is relative," stated Mr. Trees, and the members of the two teams, Bill Morell, Carlagene Plummer, Gary Allen and Cindy Hall, affirmative; and Ed Wilson and Ruth Martin, negative; learned the truth of this statement before their year was over.

HISTORY CLUB OFFICERS — Joanne Fechtman, Secretary; Jeff Lantz, Parliamentarian; Dick Nye, Vice-President; Pat Craig, Program Chairman; Mike Crowe, President.

The aim of the newly-formed History Club is to present its members and other students with a knowledge of certain historical events. The club was sponsored this year by Alfred Cocks and David Sausser, both history teachers.

The members of the club went on field trips to various places of historical interest and also conducted a research class on the ancestral history of some of its different members.

The membership of the club is extended to all persons interested in learning more about history.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS OFFICERS — Dick Snodgrass, Sergeant-at-Arms; Steve Steele, Vice-President; Charlie Fox, Secretary-Treasurer; Tracy Stevens, President.

The object and purpose of the Industrial Arts Club is to familiarize its members with industry itself. Because of complications this year, the club was not too busy. However, their activities have and will include taking field trips and having a specific project. Each year the club makes a donation which will improve the school in some way. This year two picnic tables were donated. These tables were made in the Industrial Arts department and donated by the members of the club.

SPANISH CLUB OFFICERS — Suzy Woodward, Vice-President; Dan Fisher, President; Georgia Carter, Secretary-Treasurer.

The Spanish Club endeavors to bring the cultural values of Spanish and its customs to the attention of its members. It presents an opportunity to speak the language outside of the classroom. The activities this year included going out to eat at a Spanish restaurant where members learned to order Spanish foods.

Any student taking Spanish is eligible to be a member. The club provides fun and enjoyment for all Spanish students.

Educational, Say Members

The Junior Red Cross is open to anyone for membership. The club had various activities throughout the year. Within the club there are various people who work closely with the downtown chapter house. Gift boxes are also wrapped and sent overseas and also to needy families. In several instances this year's Junior Red Cross was a Christmas for many.

ROHNEY MC GEE AND JEFF JACOBS

During this school year we were fortunate to have Jeff Jacobs as a disc jockey for several dances. Not only was he a disc jockey here at Warren, but also at many other schools and dances. Jeff has also traveled throughout Indiana as a jockey with the "Five Stars" and the "Downbeats." Several of the dances he has spun discs for raised money for clubs. Jeff acquired his skill from the teachings of Bernie Herman, W I R E radio station.

New capes, megaphones, yells and hand movements made this year's Pep Block completely different from any other Warren booster club. Members of the organization met after school in the autumn and winter to learn new yells. The walls of the gym shook to the stamping and clapping in rythmn to "all ya cats ready?," "Give me the beat," and "Wazoo, another two," as the 120 block members ran through their yells. The new capes worn at all home games and the County Tourney. The block could be all black or gold, striped, checkered, or in the formation of a "W." Warren was the only school in this area to have megaphones for all pep club members. The noisemakers were covered with black paper and were used at the sectional tournament. Under the supervision of Ronald Roach, sponsor, and the Pep Block Council, the Warren Warriors were backed for the first time by a boys' yelling block at the County Tourney. Also at the County and Sectional Tourneys the cheering section was enlarged by addition of the Booster Block composed of students who were not members of the Pep Block.

A club which holds much prestige around Warren is the Letterman's Club. The "W" club membership consists of boys who have won athletic awards in inter-scholastic sports.

The Letterman's Club is responsible for the election of nominees for the fall, winter, and spring queen; plus ushering at home football and basketball games. During the course of the past school year, the "W" club has sponsored several banquets and alumni Letterman activity nights.

Strive to Boost Spirit

In any organization, the officers and managers play an important part. In G.A.A. the officers plan all the activities of the club. The managers of the different sports are responsible for the organization of the particular sport they are in charge of. The managers and officers play a very important role and without them the club would not function as well as it did this year.

Future Farmers of America is a national organization designed to aid the young man in finding his place in the field of farming. Warren's vocational schedule includes several agriculture courses, and these classes are correlated with the FFA program. Both are supervised by Vonn Hayes.

Varied activities consume the time for Future Farmers members such as judging contests and field trips. All of these events are designed to help the student in his knowledge of and his interest in the vocation of his choice — farming.

Future Homemakers of America Club strives to increase the knowledge of girls in every phase of homemaking — from sewing and cooking to child care. Meetings are held every month, and the big event for the club this year was a baking contest. Any Warren girl was eligible to enter cakes in various classifications. The cakes were judged and several winners were named. Club members hope this contest will become a tradition and a yearly activity sponsored by FHA.

Future Teachers of America is a national organization devoted to illustrating the benefits of a teaching career. Its high school members from Warren participated this year in the cadet teaching program. Sponsor Don Saylor supervised the placing of various seniors in township grade schools to assist teachers in their work and to observe the techniques of elementary instruction.

Many more teachers, both elementary and secondary, are needed in the United States' educational system every year, and through such programs as FTA, high school people are becoming aware of the benefits in teachings.

Thousands of words have been written about teen-age driving. Every driver has seen examples of the high school driver who abuses his privilege just as everyone has seen the intelligent high schooler who appreciates the right to commandeer the machine responsible for more deaths than any other man-made contraption. What good are words, however, if nothing is done to illustrate them?

Warren's Drivers Club consists of young men and women interested in educating the public to the fact that the majority of teen-agers are good drivers. To emphasize their belief, the club sponsored an excellent State Police film and periodic car safety checks. Herman Nolte, driving instructor, conducted spot checks to insure the continuation of Warren's safe driving record.

A large student body insures a varied number of interests and activities as evidenced by the Chess Club, sponsored by Morris Campbell, social studies teacher. This extracurricular organization met with two purposes — to learn to play chess and to play it. Experts say that a mastery of chess indicates superior intelligence, remarkable patience and unusual concentration. A check of the club's membership list attests to the correctness of this statement.

The irregular first semester limited the meetings of the Chess Club, but the faithful few continued with their hobby.

A school can have a fine administration, a respected faculty and a spirited student body, but without a competent and dependable staff, the school cannot remain at its operating best. We Grew in Ability . . .

Athletics

We grew in athletics . . . from the first day of football practice on August 15 to the last gun, Warren athletes represented their school in all major activities.

Jim Wallace, who entered Warren as another innovation in a new atmosphere, coached the football, wrestling and freshman track programs to improved seasons. Vaughn Wood, who now devotes all of his time to being athletic director, had a busy year of scheduling games and supervising the Warren athletic program.

With the establishing of Moorehead as a junior high, the consensus of Warren coaches seems to show an improvement in the athletic program. Boys who work together since seventh grade would naturally become accustomed to each other's habits and compensate for them.

So we in the sports department are on the upswing. As the school grows, so do the capabilities and merits of the athletes under the guidance of able coaches. Soon we will be in a new school, using new equipment. We, the athletes of Warren Central, are ready.

Open Fall Season With New Coach

Floyd Hoppes, No. 24, is tackled, as he heads for the sidelines run during the North Central game.

Coached by a new man, Jim Wallace, who came from Indiana Central, Warren's varsity finally scored a 14-6 victory over visiting Madison Heights. One of the traditional games of the season, was dropped to Howe 35-6. Other season scores were Scecina 27, Warren 0; Ben Davis 20, Warren 13; Southport 19, Warren 13; Sacred Heart 20, Warren 12; Manual 42, Warren 0; Speedway 27, Warren 6; North Central 27, Warren 13.

Composed of mainly underclassmen, the squad had to work new plays under new conditions which may have accounted for the season's slow start.

As two Warren men stop a North Central back, No. 30, Charlie Collins, backed up by Luther, moves in for the final push-back.

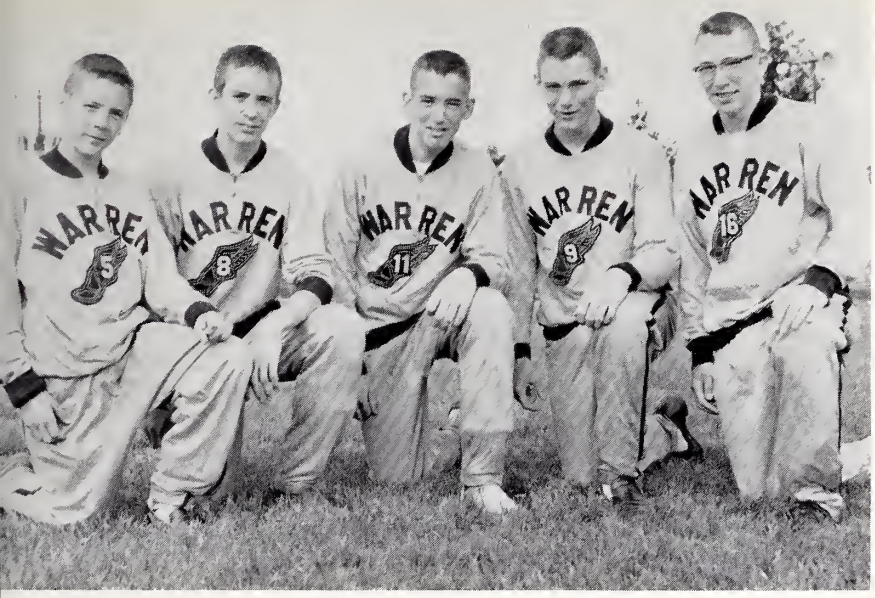
North Central's No. 21, Enoch, heads around right end as No. 23 Gary Wetherald waits for him with Sonny Luther, No. 25, assisting in the tackle.

On a cool autumn night in October, with temperatures around freezing, these royal beauties shivered and shook as they reigned supreme over the Football Homecoming game. Although the queen and her court of lovelies, along with other loyal fans, cheered loudly, the team went down to defeat at the hands of North Central 26-13.

During half time ceremonies, Fall Homecoming Queen, Linda Howard, junior, received the crown and a kiss from Charles Collins, captain of the football team. Linda's court consisted of Jani Ernsberger, junior; Jeannie Horton, senior; Marlene Settles, junior; and Dianne Dicks, senior. After the final play the queen and her court were escorted to the gym where a dance was held in their honor.

Football, Cross Country

Warmed only by the heat from flash bulbs were Warren's 1958 Football Queen and her court. Linda Howard, junior; was the Queen; her court was Jani Ernsberger, junior; Jeanne Horton; senior; Marlene Settles, junior and Dianne Dicks, senior.



The members of the 1958 - 59 Freshman Cross Country team were Jim Leming, Mike Durham, Danny Myers, Bob Cohoon, and Ronnie Pride.

During the blustery fall each year, small groups of boys may be seen jogging around in the shrubbery near Warren Central. These are the cross country runners.

Combining speed with an uncanny endurance, the cross country boys at Warren tallied a record as follows:

Back Warren in Major Sports

Cheering the reserves on to victory, along with backing up the varsity, was the job of Judy Johnson, Marlene Settles and Judy Taylor, reserve cheerleaders.

Football with its blustery winds and nippy nights brought out the cheerleaders in Bermudas and sweaters. Cheerleaders for the fall sports were Jeanne Horton, Dianne Dicks, Jeannette Miller, Mary Kay Beck and Sara Jane Carter.

"Welcome to Warren Central" is the cheer given to visiting teams during the basketball season. Undermining the enemy's defences are Sara Carter, Penny McIntosh, Jeanette Miller and Jeanne Horton, varsity cheerleaders.

Preparing for a possible position on reserve or varsity, Sandy Smith, Linda Loman, Lynn Strane and Suzy Sicking, freshman cheerleaders, cheered the "Littlest Warriors" to victory.

Jani Ernsberger and Court Reign

The Warriors' Don Prickett (partly crowded by Manual's No. 22) battles for the rebound as No. 24 Eric Kline and No. 30 Larry Piety offer their moral support.

In early November, when the winter really begins in earnest the tall ones of Warren Central prepare for the annual tussle of the hardwood. The Warrior five got off to a slow start losing their first five games. Undaunted, Bill Reed's boys came back to defeat their next five opponents. Winding up the season with a victory the Warriors managed to compile a 12 - 12 record.

So close and yet so far away seemed to be Warren's theme at the County Tourney as Southport defeated the Warriors 64 to 48 in the final game.

At the end of basketball season came the long awaited sectionals. At sectional time all other normal functions, such as school, work and sleep, come to a grinding halt. Everyone joins in "Hoosier Hysteria." It is a time of slumber parties, small "rumbles," and eats. It is a time of joy and a time of sorrow. For some this was their last sectional, for others their first. One team out of all the hundreds of teams in the state will fight its way to "State Champs."

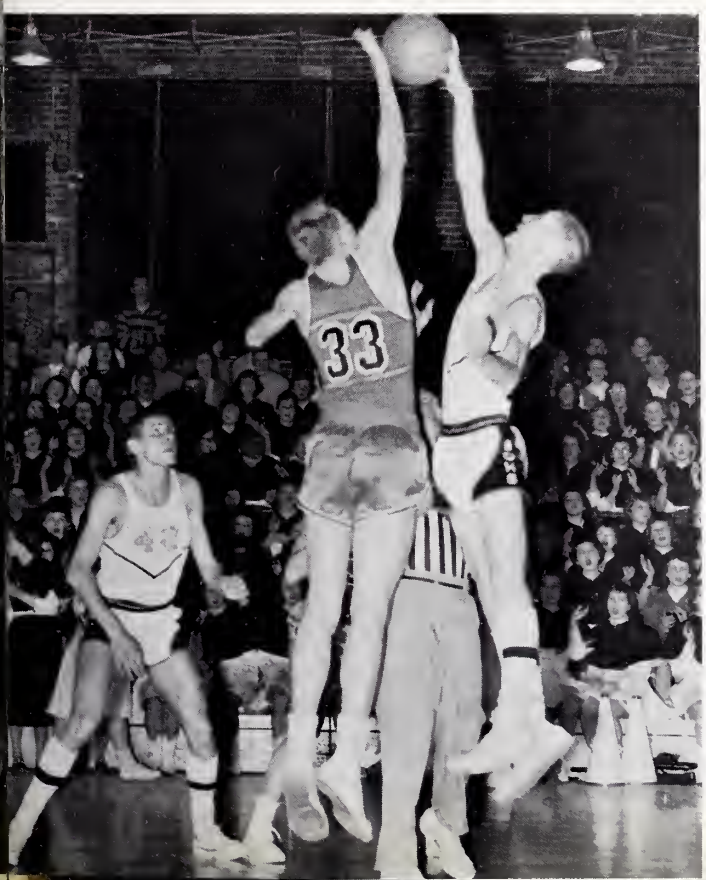
Suddenly, it ends. Basketball season is over. The many voices of cheering Warriors are silenced.

It is the last time that many of these voices will cheer the Warriors as high school students. No longer can they call Warren their team alone for Warren belongs to all of those who have cheered her basketball teams to victory.

The Beech Grove — Warren game gets under way in customary fashion as Warrior center Eric Kline battles for the opening tip.

Over Homecoming Tussle Against Manual

Queen Jani Ernsberger reigned over the Warren - Manual tilt in the famed Hoosier Hysteria division of Warren sports. Members of her court were Barbara Reel, Jeanne Horton, Susie Hedrick and Dianne Dicks.



Warren's homecoming game begins as No. 24 Eric Kline goes high for the opening tip. Warrior Ron Eades No. 42 looks on with anticipation.

12-12 Season Gives Freshmen and Reserves

The Warriors' Bill Jacobs, No. 44, is surrounded by Manualites as he battles for a rebound. Ready to give his assistance is the Warriors' No. 24, Eric Kline.

Warren blocks a Manual driving layup as No. 30, Larry Piety and No. 42, Ron Eades wait for the rebound.

Manual's No. 14 seems to heave the ball into the air as Warren's No. 30 Larry Piety, and No. 24 Eric Kline wait for its arrival. Manual's No. 12 also has his eye on the ball.

Gary Wetherald, Warren grappler, struggles for a "figure 4" against a Sacred Heart matman.

The '58-59 wrestling season proved to be a very successful one for the Warriors. Jim Wallace in his first year as wrestling coach, and coaching the Warren second team, had some fine wrestlers who turned in some equally fine records. The team as a whole compiled a record of 7 wins and 5 losses and 1 tie. 95-pounder, Dave Norton captured the Wrestler of the Year award, after a tremendous season record of 12 wins and one loss.

Golf and Track Pace Spring;

Learning new grips and how to play the wind was just a portion of the Warren varsity golf team's year. Watching Coach Ron Roach are the following: Tom Lowe, Jack Scoggen, Mike White, Rolland Beckham, Ton Falconbury, John Gronauer, Richard Martin.

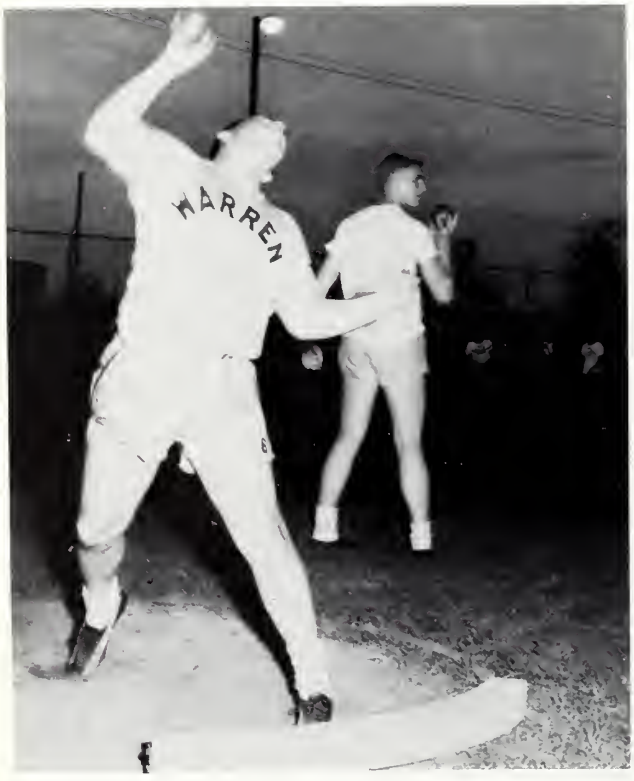
Afternoon and Night Meets Found

Warrior Larry Parrish has his eye on the bar 5' 6" high as he begins this successful leap.



Carroll Dawes, Warren junior, gives a mighty heave as he shoves the 12 lb. shot some 43 feet.

Hurtling, sprinting, jumping, pole vaulting, putting the shot or just plain running are some of the phases of track.

There is something for just about any type of individual. For the more muscular boys there is the shot-put event, while those fleet of foot may take part in any of the other field events such as hurdling, 100 yard dash, 440, 880, mile and the various relays.

This year's varsity, under the direction of Coach William Glesing, underwent a change. Boys who had previously been scorers had graduated and the promising underclassmen needed experience . . . perhaps next year . . .

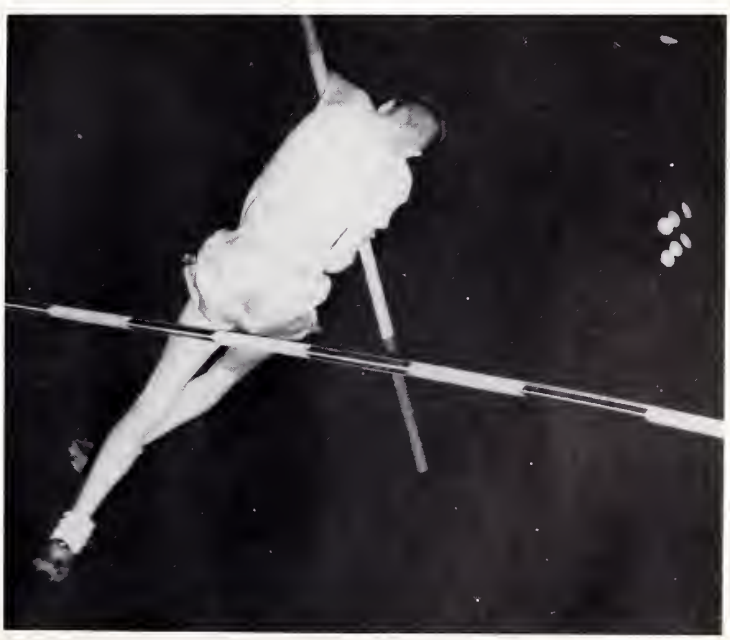
This year's varsity scoring ran:

TRACK SCORES

Manual 83; University High 12	Warren 31
Tech 95	Warren 22
Southport 93	Warren 24
Scecina 72	Warren 37
Lawrence 104	Warren 12
North Central 82 1/10	Warren 26 9/10
Howe 86 1/3; Manual 59 2/3	Warren 19
Manual 86	Warren 23

Warren Cindermen Battling Constantly

Steve Bless, Warren broad-jumper, sends spiked shoes flying as he tries to better his best for those ever-necessary points.



One of the more promising of the underclassmen on this year's varsity was Dick Lemming, sophomore. Here Dick clears a 9' 6" vault for a first place ribbon.

Track Queen, Court Gave Out

Ron Jackson, third from left, strides mightily as he gains on some rival low hurdlers in the fast event. Warren met Howe and Manual in this night meet at the Mowrey Field. The highlight of the night was the crowning of Sara McClarren and the dancing at the sock-hop in her honor.

We Grew in Experiences . . .

Seniors

Life is full of never-ending climaxes. The first of these comes when you began to walk and talk and when you became aware of the world around you.

Then there is that frightful day you enroll in the first grade and of course the day that you become a freshman in high school. It seems that these are all just beginnings to an end.

Then one day you find yourself garbed in a cap and gown and marching down an aisle. This is one of the most memorable climaxes in one's life . . . graduation.

For the past 17 or 18 years you have been growing in mind and body. But all this time you have had assistance. Your problems were your Mom and Dad's problems. Now you gaze into the future to realize that your problems are now yours to solve and those big decisions will be faced by you and you alone. Your life is yours.

Growth is a never-ending process. By graduation, most of us have reached our total physical growth; however, we will always continue to grow mentally in all capacities, for if we cease to develop our minds, we soon decay and become useless. This is our life as we continue to cure our growing pains.

Underclassmen

Warren Central has a certain air which is aware to all who enter its halls. This air is called friendliness. Whether it be a freshman or a new student, friendliness is shown. Part of the reason for this is the pleasant attitude between underclassmen and seniors. Everyone is a friend to everyone else.

Underclassmen obtain this friendly feeling as soon as they enroll at Warren. To help this process, a freshman mixer is given. Freshman boys are eligible for the freshman cross country, basketball and track teams. Most of the freshman girls belong to the Freshette Service Club which sponsors "Clothe a Child at Christmas.

Sophomores rid themselves of the traditional frosh green and gradually become more and more active and involved in activities and school life.

Juniors begin planning for their senior year, almost as soon as their sophomore year is finished. Purchasing of the senior rings, the junior prom and the picnic highlight the junior year.

These are the underclassmen with all their traditions and activities. They are the ones that make Warren a truly good school . . . as we grow.

Notes 'n Scribbles . . . . .

We Grew in Knowledge . . .

Faculty

Four years of college are required for a regular teachers' license in Indiana, but few of Warren's teachers have stopped with the minimum. Masters degrees are more the rule than the exception on this faculty list as men and women are teachers during the day and students again during the evening hours.

Who makes a day-after-day, year-after-year effort to teach us the things we must know to be successful citizens? Who supervises the discipline in the halls, the cafeteria the library? Who pitches in at our sock hops, ballgames, club activities? Who listens to our problems and laughs at some of our jokes? Who bears the brunt of our wrath when high school isn't all we'd like it to be?

An able faculty is of more benefit to a school than all the new equipment and fine buildings available, for who can learn without a well-qualified, interested and interesting teacher.

Administration

Our principal, Mr. Cuddy, sits proudly in his new office where his many duties are performed. Many problems are undertaken to advance the standing of Warren. Although Mr. Cuddy has such a busy calendar, he still has time to discuss small problems.

Principal Edward Cuddy heads the administrative staff of the high school consisting of the various deans and department chairmen. Mr. Cuddy is Warren's third principal, coming here from Bloomington High School where he served as vice-principal until 1957. Mr. Cuddy's influence extends into all phases of school life from daily activities of the student body to planning the many details connected with the new building planned for 1960.

The addition of the new wing, completed in January, saw the first phase of the long range plan to boost Warren's standing to one of the highest in the state and country.

Mrs. Cuddy joins her husband for a few moments of relaxation so necessary for busy people. Tim accompanies Mrs. Cuddy on this visit.

Dean of Boys

Beginning a school year brings many new problems which Mr. Obert Piety, Dean of Boys, will have to solve. He not only serves as dean, but he also fills the position of Assistant Principal. He has been in charge of the National Merit Scholarship Testing Program among others. Scheduling classes and giving students the proper subjects is another of his many duties. At the present time the major part of his assignment is administrative.

Dean of Girls

Serving as sponsor of the Student Council in co-operation with Mr. Piety, operating the Federal Lunch Program, and generally helping to maintain an orderly school is Mrs. Maude Siebert, Warren's Dean of Girls. Mrs. Siebert also has the task of supervising the Federal Milk Program.

Before becoming dean, Mrs. Siebert was the art instructor. Now her work serves as her hobby. Her spare moments are spent in painting and ceramics.

Commerce

Mechanical and mental skills are developed as Warren pupils pursue commercial subjects. Is typing academic or vocational? Regardless of the answer, its use is vital in a growing world.

Typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, general business and office practice are listed in the curriculum of commerce, one of the busiest departments at Warren. Preparing for vocations and preparing for college are listed as the aims for the students enrolled in the commerce classes. With the addition of the new wing, new classrooms were scheduled, and new equipment purchased and rented to assist in the simulation of real office conditions.

Present, past and future—success has been and will be determined by the pupils' grasp of academic subjects. Because English is America's native tongue, its study is vital. Students learn to express themselves, both through written compositions and oral reports or speeches. They also become acquainted with the many reference materials available to them. For those preparing for college, there is College Preparatory English in the junior year, and there is also a fourth year for people planning definitely a higher education.

Listening closely to a panel discussion is a sophomore English class adding another skill to the list of those necessary for effective communication.

Sewing is fun and, besides that, quite often saves money. The freshman girls are given the opportunity to learn to use sewing machines, to cut out material and to learn to use patterns. Advanced clothing is offered to junior and senior girls. In this class more complicated problems are tackled. In the same year with Advanced Clothing is Housing. This very interesting class gives ideas for room design and color schemes. Knitting, Swedish darning, and crocheting are learned in the Home Arts Class.

Cooking is a favorite pastime of many girls. Warren Central offers classes in Foods I and II. The freshmen learn basic knowledge in cooking, to set tables for various occasions, to bake quick-breads, to prepare simple meals and to keep the cookings units in order. Sophomores have a more advanced program. They learn to bake fine pastries, and yeast breads, to remember technical points in meal preparation, and to practice consumer buying.

Girls leave the cooking laboratory at the end of their sophomore year with a good basic foundation in the field of food, which is very important in the future of every girl.

Cooking has captured the interest of Patty Heath and Peggy Bilbrey as they exchange notes on a pie.

Judy Montgomery, Sharon Myers, Cynthia Pfister and Barbara Wilson employ advance sewing skills in their home economics course.

Industrial Arts

Located in the lower corridor is the Industrial Arts Department, which contributes to the goals of education in terms of ideals attitudes and skills. It teaches the fundamental principles of construction and operation of machines and tools. It develops interests and understanding of industry in social and economic life. This study fosters appreciation of good design, material and workmanship.

Freshmen take General Shop, Drawing, Electricity, Woodworking or Printing. Sophomores can take those or Mechanical Drawing or Machine Shop. Juniors and seniors are offered Advanced Drawing, Architectural Drawing and Advanced Machine Shop in addition to Printing and Woodworking.

The department has many tentative plans for the future. Welding and Auto Mechanics will be added to the program and Electronics will replace General Shop.

Various projects occupy the busy class time of the Metal Shop class whose members include Steve Steele, Gordon Willets, Floyd Hoppes and Jim Spilker.

Mathematics

Geometry, three years of algebra and trigonometry form the nucleus of Warren's mathematics department, and students are chosen from the various classes to participate in the Indiana University Testing Program each spring.

Math as well as science has been in the spotlight since the beginning of the space age just a few years ago. High school people are becoming more and more aware of the necessity for a good mathematical background—not only for jobs in engineering or medicine, but for the occupations of housewife or service station attendant or stenographer. We cannot live in an adult world without a usable knowledge of math.

Carlagene Plummer and Susan Everett, seniors, display their many medals won in District and State Solo and Ensemble Contests. Each girl won three firsts in this year's state contest.

This year the Warren Central Music Department has endeavored to bring good entertainment to the community and to strive for the development of a fine music organization. Various concerts, programs, and operettas which have been the source of funds for the Music Department, have been presented throughout the year. Besides these activities the band provides music for ball games, parades, pep sessions, and convocations, while the orchestra plays for some of the more formal affairs such as the annual Mother and Daughter Tea and graduation.

While the vocal groups take part in all these activities, they also have their own busy schedule of programs to meet. It isn't all work and no play for these groups, though, parties and good times are planned. Many lasting friendships are formed through the close association of these groups. The end of the school year finds our musicians happy that the busy times are over for a while, yet loving every minute of it.

To help out with the many duties assigned to the Dean of Boys, Mr. Wendall Roberts took on his new responsibility this year as assistant to Mr. Piety. In previous years, Mr. Roberts taught Safety and Health besides assisting in the coaching of football and basketball, and serving as head baseball coach. He is still coaching and also teaching a class in General Business.

Office Secretaries-Assistants

The main office is the business center of any school. Here such items as schedule cards, attendance records, corridor passes and each student's I.Q. and test grades are filed. All permanent records containing semester grades from the freshman year are also kept on file. Even after graduation, one may obtain his files, for they have been kept for seniors for many years.

At the middle of this year, Warren was fortunate to have a new office with new desks, filing cabinets, storage, and much more space. A new ditto machine was also added. Patiently waiting for the day when she will fulfill her many duties in the new building is Mrs. Mary Jane Deer, school secretary, top left. Bottom left is Mrs. Theodora Pfister, attendance clerk, who also works in the main office. Without their help Warren would be at a great loss.

Filing schedule cards, enrollment cards, and corridor passes are just a few of the many jobs fulfilled by office practice students. Busying herself through the school day is Jean Merriweather who takes pride in her job as an office practice student.

Young bodies as well as young minds need expert help in their development. The weak mind and strong back or the brilliant sissy are not pictures of the teenager of today. The State Department requires all high school students to earn at least one credit in physical education. Special rules are set up for Warren students governing attendance, equipment, uniforms, supervision and direction. Freshman boys and girls include gym classes as an integral part of their first year program.

The aims of physical education have been listed as the following: to develop organic vitality and physical growth, to introduce rules and fundamental games, and to develop as many muscular skills as possible.

Physical Education

Girls demonstrate that they, too, have physical powers on the parallel bars and other gym equipment. A good control of the body and knowledge concerning health are all-important to the growing girl.

The sputnik awoke the U. S. with a start and, among other broad plans for the future, the government turned toward the high school for a more advanced science program.

Warren's science curriculum is centered in the laboratories on the southeast side of the building where biology, practical science, chemistry and physics studies begin.

Experiments, text and workbooks, lectures, visual aids and those inevitable tests are all a part of the nationwide effort to make American youth aware of and enthusiastic about the world's unbelievable scientific future.

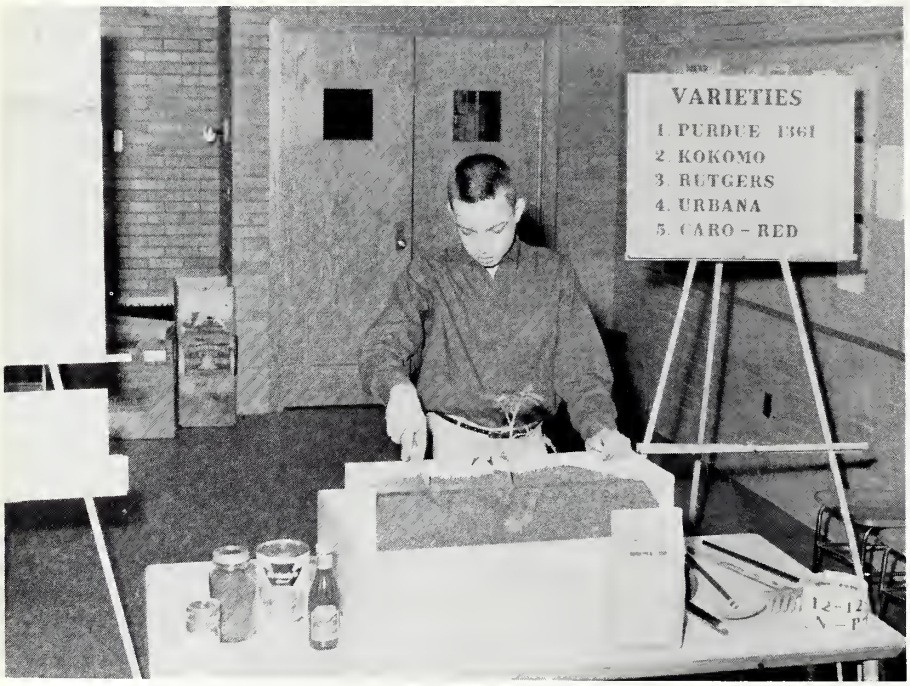
Mike Barthel demonstrates the process of law-making to a senior social studies class as a part of the aim of the department to give students a better understanding of the government under which they live.

As each day passes, history is made as well as studied. A history book is like a book of prophecies, constantly foretelling the future through a study of the past. To be good American citizens we must have the background knowledge of our country as well as others, especially in the world of today.

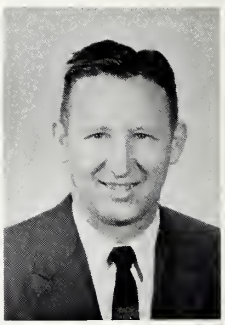
In our government, social studies, and history classes we are taught the fundamentals of these very important subjects, which will in their time, be of great value to us. The hours we spend in homework may sometimes seem useless and time consuming but soon we will be called upon to cast our ballots for the leaders of our country. When this point is reached our efforts will become rewarding.

Agriculture



Bruce Waterman, sophomore, runs through his award winning agriculture demonstration. The exhibit contained information of the varieties and correct ways of raising tomatoes in Indiana soil.

VONN HAYES
Purdue



Hard work proved profitable to the fifty-seven boys enrolled in Vocational Agriculture when they received awards throughout the year. These boys, under the guidance of Teacher Vonn Hayes participated in contests and demonstrations. Some boys received awards in the county crops judging and livestock contests and gave six winning demonstrations in the county demonstration contest. Several teams and individuals also placed high in district contests and become eligible for competition in the Indiana State Fair.

As teens grown older, they begin to have the urge to drive. Driving is a very serious responsibility. In order to meet this responsibility, driver's training class has been provided for Warren students. This class has enabled many to be better and safer drivers, because students are taught the fundamentals of driving and have the actual experience of operating the automobile. Above, Judy Searcy and Steve Hill check the new Drivers Training car provided by Dave Hockett Ford Sales.

Art

JULIA FAUCETT
Franklin, Indiana

The Art Department contributes its time not only to the instruction of its pupils in the fundamentals of design, but also to the aid of all departments in any activity needing background or decorations. Unusual themes and attractive scenery pour from Room 206 in a never-ending stream. From operettas to sock hops, the Art Department stands ready to help.

Dick Snodgrass and Jean Entwistle check Vickie Lunte's winning design for the medallion to be placed in the lobby of the new building. All three were finalists.

Languages

The Language Departments also have its growing pains. Second year French will begin next year for those students wanting to learn the language thoroughly. Many other improvements in the languages courses are also planned.

As in the years before each of the language classes presents a skit or short play to the students who will be taking language courses the following year. In this way they present a small picture to the students of what they may expect.

The Latin students are initiated by taking the traditional "Trip through Hades." Their next event comes in the form of the "Slave Sale." Everyone enjoys the "Floralia" season since it brings much wanted candy and beautiful spring flowers.

The Spanish Circle is a club for the second year Spanish students. They plan many activities in which they present their annual program. Sometime in the future the club plans to visit the "Taco House."

Marcia Faulkner, sophomore, headed this committee for the annual Language Festival presented in the spring.

The Publications Department has a myriad of responsibilities to the school and to the community. OWL, News Bureau and WIGWAM staff members and beginning journalists all play a part in telling the Warren Central story to the community. Nestled in the OWL Roost are all the files, supplies and information necessary to an effective communications program. Reporters, editors, salesman, typists, copy writers — all join the stream of humanity in and out of Room 14 in an effort to bring the news to Warrenites.

Journalism-Study Hall

The reference tables of the library provide places to concentrate, study, check facts or just gaze into the distance.

MRS. MARY ALYCE DAVIS
Virginia, Radford, Butler, Indiana

Where else can you talk, study, write notes, read the paper, do research or (if you can get by with it) sleep, The library serves as a combination of all these things as its hundreds of books provide a wealth of information and a fascinating store of fiction for all who take the time to look. Such privileges must not be taken lightly, but how often are they neglected and soon forgotten. From newspapers to the Bible, Mark Twain to Milton, Photoplay to Encyclopedia Americana — more knowledge is available than anyone could absorb in a lifetime — much less four years!

Superintendent

As head of Warren Township's first Metropolitan School Board, Mr. Austin E. Walker supervised the planning and building of the new wing added to the building this year, in addition to his myriad of other duties. Mr. Walker began his career in education as a coach and a teacher of Latin and history in the years prior to World War II. He served six and a half years in the army during the war, after which time he returned to the field of education. Two principalships appear on Mr. Walker's record, the first at Silver Creek in Sellersburg and the second at Crown Point. After serving as principal at Crown Point for several years, Mr. Walker became superintendent of that city's schools. Two years ago he became the first superintendent of the Metropolitan School District of Warren Township.

Superintendent Walker takes an evening from his numerous administrative duties to enjoy a social function with Mrs. Walker.

Visual Aids

Jim Garvey, Charlie Ashbrook and Phyllis Tielking are only a few of the students who assist Mr. Perle Fisher with his many chores as township audio-visual director and as school treasurer. From his office streams all audio-visual material for the township schools, and he is responsible for all money matters of Warren Central. Mr. Fisher also instructs a college-credit class in audio-visual aids.

We Grew In Community Contacts . . .

Advertising

A year past . . . and it is difficult to separate school life from the community's life, for in a sense each is dependent upon the other. Without the splendid co-operation of the business establishments of our community, many activities would have been impossible. Through their backing, such publications as the WIGWAM and the OWL were made possible. They also helped in the printing of many programs, calandars and other items provided by clubs and groups. Warren Township is a little community in itself. From the independent store owner to the nationally known business firm, local citizens are employed in and patronize enterprises that make it possible for Warren Township residents to travel a very short distance for the things necessary to carry on life.

The Warren Central WIGWAM wishes to express its sincere appreciation for the courtesy, co-operation and patronage shown to Warren Central by our advertisers.
